

I support the more stringent New Jersey do not call list. Even with this added layer of privacy, we are still bothered by repetitive mass dialings and disconnected-upon-answering mystery calls that I believe are generated by overreaching telemarketers. The current abuse of citizens who keep their telephone number listed is a tawdry by-product of a market in need of regulation tightening.